WAR WITH RUSSIA.

GERMAN RETREAT

IN POLAND.

FRANCE AND BELGIUM

Allies Gain Ground.

BRITISH CRUISER SUNK.

The Germans have adopted a general offensive movement between Nieport and Arras.

The Allies have progressed at several points on the Franco-Belgian front, and have repulsed German attacks.

Lille has been reconquered by the Allies. Fugitives report also that the Germans have evacuated Ostend.

A Berlin report suggests that three or four army corps from Poland are to reinforce the troops in the west, with the object of capturing Calais.

The eastern army meanwhile is to remain on the defensive on the Silesian border.

A huge Russian army is stated to be pursuing the retreating Austro-German forces in Poland.

On the east Prussian frontier German attacks have been repulsed.

Turkey has made war on Russia, without a formal declaration.

Russian towns on the Black Sea have been bombarded, and warships sunk.

There is also a report that Bedouins have invaded Egypt.

The British cruiser Hermes was torpedoed and sunk in the Straits of Dover.

WAR BULLETIN.

PRINCE LOUIS' RESIGNATION.

The following cable messages have been received from Sir George Grey:

Prime Louis of Hohenberg relinquishes his position as Lord Lieutenant of the Admiralty. The resignation was communicated to the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Winston Churchill, in the following terms:

"Dear Churchill—I have lately been driven to the painful conclusion that at the juncture of my birth and parentage have the effect of impairing in some respects my usefulness on the Board of the Admiralty. In these circumstances I feel it my duty as a loyal subject of His Majesty to resign my office as First Lord, and to devote my time to the study of the history of the Royal Navy."

The First Lord of the Admiralty replied:

"Dear Prince Louis—This is no ordinary war, but a struggle between nations for life and death. It raises passions between the peoples of the world, and the old landmarks and frontiers of our civilization. I cannot further oppose the wish you have during the last few weeks expressed to me to be released from the burden of responsibility which you have been thus far with so much honour and success."

The anxiety and toils which rest upon the naval administration of our country are in themselves enough to try a man's spirit, and when to them are added the innumerable difficulties of which you speak, it is not surprising that you should feel as you do."

"The duty of the Admiralty is to maintain the fleet, and to ensure the safety of our commerce. It is a duty which requires the highest qualities of courage and endurance. I am sure that you will find it a most interesting and profitable study."

"I am sure that you will find it a most interesting and profitable study."

The Map includes Turkey in Europe and Asia. Ottoman troops are reported to be menacing the Egyptian frontier.

without success. There is a recrudescence of activity at Reims, and on the heights of the Meuse.

GERMANS ADOPT OFFENSIVE.

A later communique was issued as follows:

The Germans have adopted a general offensive movement between Nieport and Arras.

We have recaptured Roubaix, and progressed towards Proucheville.

We lost a few points d'appui south of Ypres, but all German attacks between La Bassée and Arras have been repulsed with heavy losses.

We progressed at several points along the rest of the line to Woevre, but retired towards Vailly.

Lille evacuated.

The "Daily Mail" states that the Germans have evacuated Lille.

It is reported that the Allies have advanced northwards of Lille, and captured Tournai, driving the Germans a considerable distance eastwards of Lille. There is still a strong force at La Bassée and Lens.

The Germans twice broke the British line, but were finally repulsed.

GERMANS CLAIM SUCCESS.

FRENCH HELP BRITISH.

A DASHING ASSAULT.

PARIS, Oct. 31.

The British troops posted on the La Bassée canal were in a very exposed position, and were subjected to a heavy fire from the German machine-guns. They asked the French for assistance and Baron Doullens' battalion advanced in response to the call.

They approached over some open ground in short rushes, and suffered severely through the German fire. Finally they charged with the bayonet, and captured the German position, whence they captured the German machine-guns, and so enabled the British to advance.

The British troops stood up in the trenches and cheered the French soldiers for their courageous assault. The brigadier in charge of the British troops wrote to the French commander, thanking him for his assistance, and congratulating his troops on their courage.

WHITE FLAG TREACHERY.

A Wartburg regiment attempted to pass a narrow defile in the forest Fourdenne, hoping to join the Crown Prince's army at Yverness, but the French had been forewarned.

From a barrier of rocks specially erected at the French intelligence guns poured a hot fire on the Germans.

The Germans hoisted the white flag, but fired when the French advanced, killing 10. Thereupon the mitrailleuse guns roared, and the Germans were thrown into horrible confusion in attempting to escape. Over a thousand were killed.

BRITISH CAVALRY.

DISMAY OF GERMANS.

HAVRE, Oct. 31.

Mr. Donald Thompson, photographer of the "New York World," accompanied the German army through 26 engagements, and was wounded at Dixmude. He states that the Germans in Belgium are still fighting with marvellous determination, but are getting an awful hammering. Their cavalry is utterly demoralized; whilst the British cavalry work is both the admiration and the dismay of the Germans, who at close quarters do not attempt to withstand the British onslaughts, but turn and run.
